Bigwood Trees offers a variety of Maples, Serviceberries, Birch, Redbud, Honey locust, Crabapple, Cherry, Pear, Oak and Ash for you selection.

Trees are very important to our environment by providing life-giving oxygen and removal of pollution from the air, thus improving air quality. Trees moderate our climate by lowering air temperature and releasing moisture into the air around us. They prevent erosion by holding soil in place and slowing the run-off from rain. They provide shelter and food to a variety of birds and other wildlife.

To the homeowner, trees help to reduce energy costs by providing shade during the hot summer months and a windbreak during the winter months. In addition, landscaped homes are more valuable than non-landscaped homes. The savings in energy costs and increase in property value directly benefit each homeowner.

We guarantee our trees to be true to their cultivar name. Our digging method promotes survivability, and our trees are guaranteed to live. If the tree dies in the first year we will replace it.
